The devices start at £1664 exc. VAT for the Samsung Galaxy S6 in 24k Gold and customers may reserve their customised device with a 50% deposit on their chosen model.

Goldgenie's craftsmen pioneered the art of embellishing Samsung's current Galaxy S5 and Alpha models in luxurious 24k Gold and the company's CEO Laban Roomes recently presented the 24k Gold S5 to "Selma" star David Oyelowo who played Martin Luther King Jnr at an Oscars event in Los Angeles. There has been strong interest in their customised Samsung smartphones and Goldgenie is expecting an increase in demand due to Samsung's aesthetic improvements in this range.

Samsung has exchanged its recognisable plastic casing for premium glass and metal and the resulting devices are quite spectacular. The curved glass front of the S6 Edge looks like quite a feat in modern design and the discretion and practicality of its new hidden feature, People Edge, is bound to be highly popular.

The pre-order service will commence this morning at 9am 20th March and will end on 7th April and the phones will be available to order as normal from Samsung's official launch date, 10th April 2015. Dispatch of the first shipment of orders will be between 14 and 21 days after this date.

Goldgenie's customised Samsung S6 and S6 Edge will be presented in a luxury cherry oak jewellery box and personal sentiment may be added to the phone with a laser engraved name, motto or symbol on the back. Goldgenie's customised Galaxy S6 makes the perfect gift for the Samsung aficionado or for anyone considering converting to Android or updating their current model.

The customised Samsung S6 and S6 Edge are scratch resistant and come complete with a Lifetime warranty.
