

The World's First 24k Gold Commercial Boeing

The craftsmen at Goldgenie are willing to add their Midas Touch to just about anything in the transport sphere. Now that they have mastered the art of Gold plating cars, bicycles and electric uniwheels, it was time to turn their heads to the sky. A Golden jet is the ultimate form of luxury transport dream and this is exactly what Goldgenie have created.

Embellished in a lustrous layer of 24k Gold, this lightweight metal airplane has been beautifully crafted in France to reflect the shape of a Boeing 777 and while it doesn't have doors, windows or engines, it will make an elegant adornment on an executive desk and the perfect gift for any pilot or aviation enthusiast.

Aptly named the "Aviator's Dream", the sleek model airplane is available with the emblem of top airlines, British Airways, Emirates, Qatar or Goldgenie's own airline "Goldgenie Air". There are many model airplanes in the world but this limited edition 24k Gold plated model aircraft stable outshines them all. While model airplanes have been in circulation since long before a real plane took to the sky, Goldgenie have possibly created a new niche of glamorous supermodel airplanes to outshine them all.

No more than 99 of each livery, emblem, or logo will be created, making each one a memorable collectors item. Goldgenie's team of graphic designers is also willing to personalize the planes with a laser engraving. Clients are welcome to have the livery of their favourite airline placed on the side or make the plane their own with their new imaginary airline's name.

So if you've ever dreamed of owning your own commercial aircraft, and a luxurious 24k Gold plated one at that, Goldgenie are here to make that dream a reality.

The Limited Edition Aviator Dream Collection is available to order from Goldgenie's website, www.goldgenie.com.
